National curriculum tests

Introduction

The Standards and Testing Agency (STA) is responsible for the development and delivery of statutory tests and assessments. STA is an executive agency of the Department for Education.

This booklet contains the mark schemes for the assessment of level 6 English grammar, punctuation and spelling. Level threshold tables will be available at www.gov.uk/sta from Tuesday 7 July, 2015.

The level 6 English grammar, punctuation and spelling test is made up of three papers. A total of 50 marks is available.

- Paper 1: extended task (14 marks)
- Paper 2: short answer questions (21 marks)
- Paper 3: spelling paper (15 marks)

As in previous years, external markers will mark the key stage 2 national curriculum tests. The mark schemes are also made available to inform teachers.

The mark schemes were written and developed alongside the questions. Pupils' responses from trialling have been added as examples to the mark schemes to ensure they reflect how pupils respond to the questions. The mark schemes indicate the criteria on which judgements should be made. In applying these principles, markers use professional judgement based on the training they have received.

The English grammar, punctuation and spelling test assesses elements of the key stage 2 national curriculum for English. Details about what is assessed in this test are presented on pages 6, 7, 10, 12 and 13 of this mark scheme booklet. Further information about what is assessed in this test can be found in the English grammar, punctuation and spelling test framework at www.gov.uk/sta.

The English grammar, punctuation and spelling test mark schemes

Structure of the short answer questions mark schemes

The marking information for each question is set out in tables, which start on page 20 of this booklet.

The 'Question' column on the left-hand side of each table provides a reference to the question number and question part. This column also gives a reference linking it to the national curriculum.

The 'Requirements' column may include two types of information:

- A statement of the requirements for the award of each mark, shown by a square.
- Examples of some different types of correct response, shown by a bullet and italic formatting.

The 'Mark' column indicates the total number of marks available for each question part.

The 'Additional guidance' column provides information about any alternative acceptable responses, as well as an explanation of responses that are not acceptable.

General guidance on marking the spelling task is given on page 26.

Application of the short answer questions mark schemes

In order to ensure consistency of marking, the most frequent procedural queries are listed on pages 8–9 along with guidance about what the markers should do. Unless otherwise specified in the mark schemes, markers will apply the guidance in all cases.

Mark allocation in the English grammar, punctuation and spelling test

The following table summarises the number of marks in the 2015 level 6 test assessing each area:

Assessment area	Number of marks
Grammar	21
Punctuation	6
Vocabulary and appropriacy	8
Spelling	15
Total marks	50

Paper 2: short answer questions

The tables on these pages summarise the sampled areas of the English programme of study at key stage 3 that are assessed in the English grammar, punctuation and spelling test. The reference codes in the right-hand column below are given in the 'Question' column in the short answer mark schemes.

Question classification

The level 6 test will assess the appropriate knowledge and skills of the key stage 2 programme of study as identified in both the mark schemes for the levels 3–5 test and in the test framework. Consistent with other national curriculum tests at this level, it will sample additionally from the key stage 3 programme of study in the following areas:

Marking specific types of short answer question

Summary of additional guidance

The following guidance applies to all questions in the short answer questions paper. Please read this carefully before applying the individual mark scheme entries.

Question type	Accept	Do not accept
Tick boxes	Any unambiguous indication of the correct answer, eg: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ The box is crossed rather than ticked ■ The correct answer is circled rather than ticked 	Responses in which more than the required number of boxes has been indicated.
Underlining clauses / phrases / other text	Underlining of the full required text, with or without surrounding punctuation. Responses in which more than half of a required word is underlined.	Responses in which only part of the required text, or less than half of a required word, is underlined. Responses in which any additional words are underlined.
Circling of the answer	Any unambiguous indication of the correct answer, eg: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ The answer is underlined ■ The answer is enclosed within a box 	Responses in which more than the required number of words has been indicated. Responses in which the correct answer is encircled, together with more than half of any surrounding words.
Drawing lines to 'match' boxes	Lines that do not touch the boxes, provided the intention is clear.	Multiple lines drawn to / from the same box (unless this is a question requirement).
Labelling of parts of speech	Clear labels, whether they use the full vocabulary required by the question or an unambiguous abbreviation, eg: 'V' for 'verb'.	Ambiguity in labelling, eg: the use of 'noun' or 'CN' where a distinction is required between 'collective noun' and 'common noun'.
Writing sentences	A sentence that has a capital letter and an appropriate punctuation mark delineating the end of the sentence. Capital letters must be clear and unambiguous for the award of the mark. Where letters do not have unique capital letter forms, the height of the capital letter will be similar to, or greater than, that of letters with ascenders, and clearly greater than the height of letters that do not have ascenders. For example, in the word 'What', the height of the capital letter 'W' should be similar to, or taller than, the 'h'.	Ambiguity in the comparative sizes of letters. Responses in which capital letters are omitted or placed inappropriately in a sentence, or when an entire word is capitalised (even if the child is using the capitalised word for emphasis). The incorrect use of capital letters will negate an otherwise correct response.

Question type	Accept	Do not accept
Punctuation	Punctuation must be appropriate for the context, clear and unambiguous for the award of the mark. This means that the punctuation mark should be visible to the marker, its formation should be recognisable as the intended punctuation mark, and its position in relation to text or other punctuation must be correct and clear.	Where punctuation marks could be more than one thing, such as a misplaced or low apostrophe / high comma, credit will not be given.

Short answer questions: further marking guidance

What if...	Accept
...the answer is correct but spelling is inaccurate?	Where no specific mark scheme guidance is given, incorrect spellings of the correct response are creditworthy, provided the intention is clear to the marker. The single exception to this is when marking contractions, which must have correct spelling and placement of apostrophes. In any other questions in which correct spelling is required in order to assess pupils' understanding of the curriculum focus, mark scheme guidance will state the need for correct spelling, and will list any acceptable alternatives. If specific grammatical terminology is required in the answer, a misspelling must, in order to be creditworthy, be a phonetic approximation of the required word, with the major syllables of the correct word represented in the answer.
...the pupil's response does not match closely any of the examples given?	Illustrative examples of pupils' responses to questions are sometimes given; however, markers will use the marking principles to make a judgement about the award of marks. If uncertain, markers will escalate the issue to a more senior colleague.
...no answer is given in the expected place, but the correct answer is given elsewhere?	If a pupil leaves an answer box empty, but then writes their response elsewhere, it is still creditworthy, providing: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ it meets any relevant criteria in this guidance and in the question-specific mark schemes and ■ it is not contradicted by any other attempt at the answer written elsewhere (see '...more than one answer is given'). This includes where pupils 'fill in the blank' within a question when they are expected to write or tick their answer below it.
...the correct answer has been crossed out and not replaced?	Any legible crossed-out work that has not been replaced will be marked according to the mark schemes. If the answer has been replaced by a further attempt, the crossed-out work will not be considered.
...more than one answer is given?	If all answers given are correct according to the mark scheme, the mark will be awarded. If both correct and incorrect responses are given, no mark will be awarded.

Paper 3: spelling paper

The table below summarises the areas of the key stage 2 English programme of study that are assessed in paper 3 of the English grammar, punctuation and spelling test.

Key stage 2 programme of study references
En3.2 Language strategies
Pupils should be taught to: En3.2d: proofread – check the draft for spelling and punctuation errors, omissions and repetitions.
En3.4a–j Spelling
Pupils should be taught: En3.4 Spelling strategies a: to sound out phonemes b: to analyse words into syllables and other known words c: to apply knowledge of spelling conventions d: to use knowledge of common letter strings, visual patterns and analogies e: to check their spelling f: to revise and build on their knowledge of words and spelling patterns. En3.4 Morphology g: the meaning, use and spelling of common prefixes and suffixes h: the spelling of words with inflectional endings i: the relevance of word families, roots and origins of words j: the use of appropriate terminology, including vowel, consonant, homophone and syllable.
Key stage 3 programme of study reference
In addition to the content from the key stage 2 programme of study, the following content is sampled from the key stage 3 programme of study for English:
En2.3w Pupils should be able to spell correctly, increasing their knowledge of regular patterns of spelling, word families, roots of words and derivations, including prefixes, suffixes and inflections.

Extended task mark scheme: What a waste!

Assessment focus	AF5 Vary sentences for clarity, purpose and effect.	AF6 Write with technical accuracy of syntax and punctuation in phrases, clauses and sentences.	AF3 Organise and present whole texts effectively, sequencing information, ideas and events.	AF4 Construct paragraphs and use cohesion within and between paragraphs.	AF2 Produce texts which are appropriate to the task, reader and purpose.	AF7 Select appropriate and effective vocabulary.
Strand	Sentence structure and punctuation		Text structure and organisation		Appropriacy and vocabulary
Threshold	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A range of grammatical structures is used and manipulated to vary the focus of sentences and to influence opinion, eg: secure control of phrases and clauses within multi-clause sentences ('It is the job of this generation to help bring an end to this crisis, and show the way forward, and beyond'), evidence of deliberate control of verbs, eg: placement, forms and complex verb phrases, management of constructions to support purpose, eg: impersonal constructions ('another valuable resource being wasted is TIME'), infinitives to convey formality, fronted adverbials for emphasis ('After you have listened to my points...'). An appropriate range of punctuation is used effectively and precisely to support clarity, eg: effective use of internal sentence punctuation. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The structure of the text is controlled, showing links between and across paragraphs and sections in a variety of ways, eg: causal linkage, grammatical and lexical cohesion. Paragraphs are varied and managed in ways that support the structure and cohesion across the overall text and indicate overall purpose, eg: to position the reader and to secure the argument ('Let's make this stop; I hope you have taken all I have said into account.'). Within paragraphs and sections, there is evidence of cohesive devices to support structure such as deliberate contrast and repetition. Effective reference chains avoid repetitive subjects. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The piece is adapted for a speech, addressing a relevant audience and is focused on purpose, containing features of the chosen form. Content is well-shaped, eg: balance of argument, information and explanation supported by factual and emotive details. Vocabulary choices are ambitious (unbecoming green mould), yet precise, (destruction) appropriate and purposeful and achieve a suitable register.

<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A variety of sentences is used, mostly with control ('If everybody likes to save money', 'There is too much waste of paper'). Phrases ('Without them') and clauses ('When you make a tiny mistake') build up relevant detail and information. Constructions support purpose, eg: imperative construction ('Consider your options'). Generally accurate management of verb forms through the use of complex verb phrases ('I would prefer'). Sentences are mainly controlled with appropriate punctuation ('I bet you didn't think about that!') However, there is evidence of comma splicing and omission of question marks. Internal punctuation is insecure in longer, multi-clause sentences. For these reasons, the mark is awarded at the bottom of below threshold. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The sequencing of ideas is supported by paragraphs or sections that enable coherent development and control across the text. The theme of paper waste is explored through its impact on animals and humans. The opening is generally appropriate as it introduces and then repeats the theme of saving paper. Some appropriate selection of cohesive devices links ideas within and across paragraphs, eg: the connective 'However' links to the previous idea and extends the argument. Within paragraphs and sections, there is development of ideas, eg: illustration by relevant detail such as the paragraph listing the effects of paper wastage on humans. There is an attempt to sustain and link ideas across the text but a lack of appropriate development keeps this response at two marks. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The speech is adapted for an audience ('Consider your options'). The appropriate topic of the waste of paper considers its effects on humans and animals. There is a mixture of information 'We need oxygen, which only plants/trees produce' and argument ('there is the possibility that we may die'). Some vocabulary choices are appropriate to the context (polluted and scarce) but others are not (too hard, everybody likes). The informative content is managed using exaggeration, which sometimes limits the extent of the explanation. This keeps the response at one mark.

We waste important time on technological devices that we could spend with friends and family. What we really should be doing is: taking luxurious strolls in country air, doing family outings or adventure trials; and even just playing sports games in back gardens.

Appropriate opening

Clauses build up relevant detail

Ideas are developed by relevant details

Use of complex verb phrase

We should be walking or speaking to someone in person.

Fronted clause used for emphasis

With modern technology taking over our world like invaders, it isn't hard to understand why cartoon games are so addictive.

Accurate management of tense supports purpose

Another victim of waste is food as we will waste tonnes of it every year without even noticing. We may not think it, but if we looked in our food cupboards, there would be much more than enough for us to eat. Do we really need that much?

Connections between ideas are supported through accurate use of connectives

A variety of sentence structures is used

Sequencing of ideas is supported by the closing paragraphs ending on a positive note

Finally, the one last subject that the world has eventually started to change is wasting environmental resources.

Accurate management of verbs

Fortunately, (after a long time), the world has begun to recycle plastic, glass and paper and our dumping sites don't last as long with nothing to decompose. We hope that soon our wasting problems will stop, and dumping sites will be extinct.

Phrases and clauses build up relevant detail

I think that our school can make a difference, if we recycle, buy food that we need, and spend quality time together.

TSO

Good morning school council,

I am speaking to you today of the urgent issue of food wastage. Recently, levels of food wastage have increased. In every household, there is (to some extent) food being wasted daily. I think action should be taken about this urgent situation.

Complex verb phrases, including passive constructions, influence opinion

Opening effectively frames response

Grammatical structure varies the focus of the sentence

Dash used to introduce clause that adds subtlety to meaning

Deliberate control of a grammatical structure to vary focus of sentence

Perhaps, if food is going unwanted, maybe we should create a food recycling facility. This idea would succeed in noticeably reducing the amount of food waste. As well as this, the plant would benefit crops and farmers- leftover fruit and vegetables could be created into highly nutritious plant compost. Over time, this will lead to better quality food, and possibly more of it!

Movement from the specific to the general

Secure control of phrases (levels of food wastage/the effects of food waste) builds detail

Additionally, the effects of food waste I believe should be advertised in public. While we have so much, others starve in poorer parts of the world. If the public were told to try and lessen the amount of food waste, then surely there would be a reduction.

Cohesive device linking back to opening paragraph

Use of subjunctive verb form to convey formality

Use of 'that' and 'this' as an effective reference chain

Deliberate placement of verb

Not only that, I also believe that shipping allocated amounts of our food to other countries would help the needy, helping our problem

A variety of modal verbs is used to express probability at the same time. By shipping provisions to the poor, we might reduce the amount of food we are able to waste. Eventually, this would help us to be able to cope with less food- a useful trait for everyone.

Phrase positioned to add subtlety of meaning

Adverbials (Finally / surely / Tragically) effectively develop the argument

Effective use of internal punctuation

Finally, after you have listened to my valid points, I am confident you will take note of this issue, and if necessary, take action.

Impersonal construction to suit purpose

After all, surely, it is not fair that we waste huge amounts of food tantamount to what we use, whilst others starve, longing and craving for just one morsel of food. Tragically, some do not know where their next meal will come from.

Use of contrast supports cohesion

Use of 'This' refers back to previous point

This is why I trust you will take appropriate action.

Final single sentence paragraph secures the argument

Spelling paper mark scheme

Guidance for marking the spelling paper

The following conventions should be followed when marking the spelling paper:

- If more than one attempt is made, it must be clear which version the pupil wishes to be marked
- If two attempts are made and it is not clear which one is to be considered, the mark is not awarded
- Spellings can be written in upper or lower case, or a mixture of the two
- If a word has been written with the correct sequence of letters but these have been separated into clearly divided components, with or without a dash, the mark is not awarded
- If a word has been written with the correct sequence of letters but an apostrophe or hyphen has been inserted, the mark is not awarded.
