Introduction

Since the introduction of optional tests for years 3, 4 and 5 in 1998, there has been much development in the teaching of English. New optional tests were introduced in 2003 in order to reflect the changes, including the now widespread use of the national literacy strategy Framework for teaching. Most primary schools use these tests and teachers are accustomed to their administration and marking. These new optional tests are administered and marked in the same way, providing consistency for teachers and fresh material for pupil assessment.

The same sets of assessment focuses for reading and writing are now in use for the English tasks and tests at all key stages. These provide information about the particular processes or skills a pupil needs to answer the questions. This information is provided in order to explain the structure of the mark schemes. It enables tracking of pupils' progress and may be used to look at different aspects of reading and writing for diagnostic purposes.

In writing, the style of mark schemes introduced in 2003, and the writing commentaries to inform the interpretation of those mark schemes, continue to be used. These combine to make the task of marking pupils' writing more precise and yield more useful information to those interpreting the outcomes.

These tests can be used to track progression reliably, not only between years 3, 4 and 5, but also to make links between optional tests and the statutory tests at the end of key stages 1 and 2. During the development of the tests, large numbers of pupils completed various components of the new tests, as well as the 2005 statutory tests, to establish a statistical link between the optional and statutory tests.

These tests provide a set of thematically linked reading, writing and spelling tests for each year group. Reading is assessed on at least two texts of different genres, while the assessment of writing involves two pieces of writing – a longer and a shorter piece of different text types.

The administration, organisation and appearance of the tests designed for use in year 3 is adapted from key stage 1 practice. In years 4 and 5, the style is more similar to that used at the end of year 6. Unlike the statutory tests at the end of key stage 2, however, these optional materials are not due to be replaced annually and schools will need to store or reorder materials from year to year, as has been the case previously.

This guide will provide the user with information needed to administer and mark the tests. It also presents the necessary information to convert total marks to national curriculum levels for reading and writing, and to age standardised scores for reading.

Administration of the tests

Introduction

There are three tests to administer, all linked to the reading test, Making a Treasure Map and The Hunt for the Secret Treasure. The reading test is to be administered first as changing the order of the test components would disadvantage pupils and detract from the sense of the writing tasks.

To help you with your planning, the pupils' working times are given below. You will need to add the time for preparation and for distributing and collecting the tests.

Reading

Part 1

8 minutes' reading time and 20 minutes to respond

Part 2

12 minutes' reading time and 30 minutes to respond

Writing

Longer task: 40 minutes

Shorter task: 25 minutes

Spelling

10–15 minutes, approximately

Resources

Pupils will need their usual writing equipment and copies of the booklets they are to work in. In the case of the reading test, this includes the reading booklets Making a Treasure Map and The Hunt for the Secret Treasure and the accompanying Reading Answer Booklet. For writing and spelling, you can use either the photocopiable sheets at the back of this guide or the printed prompts and answer booklets, available from the QCA Orderline on 08700 606015.

Reading test

Timing

The test session consists of the following stages:

- 8 minutes for the pupils to read through the first text: Making a Treasure Map
- 5–10 minutes for the teacher to give test instructions and for pupils to complete practice questions
- 20 minutes for the pupils to complete the first section of the Reading Answer Booklet
- break (duration to be decided by the teacher)
- 12 minutes for the pupils to read through the second text: The Hunt for the Secret Treasure
- 5 minutes for the teacher to give test instructions
- 30 minutes for the pupils to complete the second section of the Reading Answer Booklet.

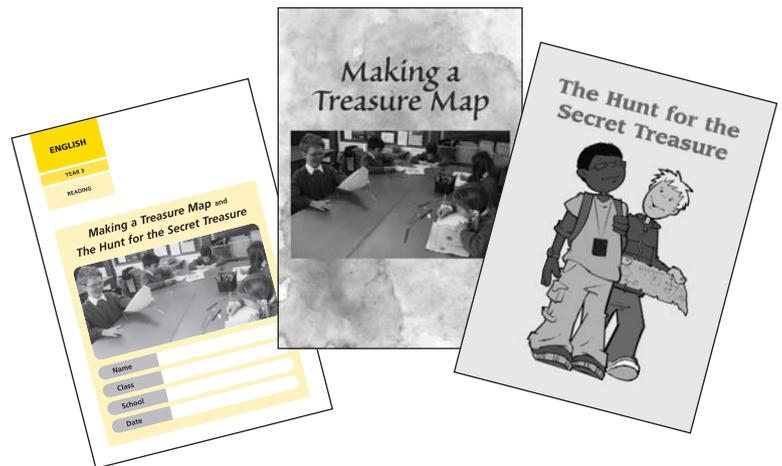

The reading test – first session

- Each pupil taking the test should be given a copy of the reading booklet Making a Treasure Map

After handing out all the reading booklets, explain to the pupils that:

- they have 8 minutes to read the booklet Making a Treasure Map. If they have time available, they should re-read the booklet
 - afterwards they will have 20 minutes to answer questions about what they have read
 - they will be able to refer back to the reading booklet as often as they wish during the test.
- Allow the pupils 8 minutes to read the reading booklet
 - Ask the pupils to open the first page of the Reading Answer Booklet and to listen to you read aloud the instructions and do the practice questions on page 3 of the test.

Depending on the pupils' familiarity with tests of this type, you may wish to add further explanation about the different question formats used and indicate the usefulness of the mark allocation (at the side of the page) in judging how much time and effort is to be invested in each question.

- In your own words, describe the work entailed in the booklet, ensuring that the following points are covered:
 - most of the tasks in the booklet consist of writing out answers to questions
 - pupils should work through the Reading Answer Booklet answering as many questions as they can until they reach the end of the section on page 8
 - if they find a question too hard, rather than spending too long on it, they should go on to the next one and come back to it later if they have time
 - they can look at the booklet Making a Treasure Map as often as they wish when they are answering the questions
 - remind pupils that sometimes page numbers are given to show them where to look for the answers to the questions that follow
 - they should not be worried about the spelling of difficult words, punctuation or grammar, as these are not marked
 - if they have problems, they may ask for help
 - they have 20 minutes to complete this part of the test.
- You may use your discretion in reminding the pupils of any of these points, as appropriate, during the test session
- As the session continues, remind the pupils of the time as necessary. Pupils finishing early should be encouraged to look over their work
- When 20 minutes have elapsed, please ask the pupils to finish the question they are answering. No extra time should be allowed except in the special circumstances outlined on pages 12–13.

The reading test – second session

- After a break, the length of which is left to your judgement, give each pupil a copy of the reading booklet The Hunt for Secret Treasure. Repeat the procedure outlined for the first session, allowing the pupils 12 minutes to read the booklet
- Help pupils to complete the practice questions on page 9 of the Reading Answer Booklet. You may also wish to ask pupils to label the picture of Jackson and Goat, the two characters in the story
- Depending on the time that has elapsed between the first and second sessions, you may wish to remind pupils of the relevant points listed under section 4 above
- Allow 30 minutes for completion of section 2 of the Reading Answer Booklet (this starts on page 10)
- Collect up all the booklets.

Writing test

There are two tasks to complete for the writing assessment – a longer and a shorter activity. The two tasks can be administered on the same day, with a break between the two sessions. Pupils should have completed the reading test before the writing tasks.

Pupil materials for this test are available as separate writing booklets and also as photocopyable pages at the end of this guide. These include:

- prompt sheets for both tasks
- planning sheet for the longer task
- formatted pages for pupil responses.

You are not obliged to use these prompts in this form and may enlarge or remodel the planning sheet as desired. However, any substantial change to the prompts themselves, or providing more help than intended on the planning sheet, would invalidate your pupils' results.

Timing

One hour and five minutes is available, in all, for the writing assessment: 40 minutes for the longer task and 25 minutes for the shorter task. These timings represent the maximum. If you find that your pupils do not require the full time available to them, then you may wish to stop either session early.

- 15 minutes approximately for introduction and instructions
- 40 minutes longer task (incorporating both planning and writing)
break
- 25 minutes shorter task (incorporating both thinking time and writing).

For the longer task, pupils can have a maximum of 10 minutes to plan. Pupils can start their writing during that time. If any pupils are still planning after 10 minutes you should encourage them to move on to their writing.

For the shorter task, a maximum of five minutes should be spent thinking about the task. If any pupils are still thinking after five minutes, you should encourage them to move on to their writing.

Before starting either of the two writing tasks, remind pupils of the reading booklets Making a Treasure Map and The Hunt for the Secret Treasure, as they provide a context for the tasks, in particular the longer writing task.

The longer writing task – Treasure hunt fun

- Give all pupils a copy of the longer task prompt and planning sheet and either an answer booklet or paper on which to write. Ask pupils to fill in the details on the cover.
- Introduce the writing test to the pupils in your own words, making sure you cover the following points:
 - there are two pieces of writing to do: one now, one at a later time
 - you will read through the instructions to the task they are going to do first
 - the pupils will have 40 minutes to plan and write for this task.
- Introduce the longer task by reading through the writing prompt in full and drawing pupils' attention to the planning sheet that accompanies it (reproduced at the end of this guide).
- While your discussion with the pupils must not explore their ideas for the task given or help to structure the contents of their written test work, you may wish to remind them that they can use any of the information in the reading booklets to give them ideas. Tell them that they can use their imagination and make up any details that they do not know or cannot remember.
- Remind the pupils that brief notes, even one or two words for the main ideas, are sufficient for the planning sheet. These notes are for their own use and will not be marked.
- Explain that no more than 10 minutes should be spent on planning. When individual pupils feel that they have completed their plan, they should move on to writing.
- After 10 minutes, remind the pupils that they should now have started on their writing.
- During the test, you should remind the pupils of the time, eg halfway through the test. Pupils who finish early should be encouraged to check their work.
- After 40 minutes, ask the pupils to stop writing.

The shorter writing task – Playtime games

Distribute the shorter task prompt and the pupils' writing booklet or paper.

- Read through the prompt for the shorter writing task, reproduced at the end of this guide.

Spend a few minutes discussing with the pupils the kinds of games they play at playtime. Emphasise the fact that they do not have to write about an outdoor playground game, but could choose a game they play indoors.

If necessary, explain to the pupils what is meant by the term 'wet play'.

- While your discussion with the pupils must not explore their ideas for the task given or help to structure the contents of their written test work, you may wish to remind them that they can use any of the information in the reading booklets to give them ideas. Tell them that they can use their imagination and make up any details that they do not know or cannot remember.
- There is no separate sheet for planning. Remind pupils of the time available – they should spend no more than 5 minutes thinking about the task and deciding what they will write about. When they have done this, they should move on to writing.
- After 25 minutes, ask the pupils to stop writing.

Spelling test

A copy of the text of the spelling test Pirates complete with the words to be spelled is reproduced on page 11. The words to be spelled on the picture sheet are reproduced in the table below. Photocopiable sheets of the pupil material required for this test can be found at the end of this guide.

- The spelling test is not strictly timed; 10-15 minutes is suggested as a guide. Ask pupils to write their name, the class, the name of the school and the date in the appropriate boxes on the cover.
- Part 1: You should first discuss with pupils the large picture and smaller pictures around it (see below for target words). Make sure pupils know what each small picture represents, and then read the target words to the pupils, asking them to write each word in the correct place as you do so.
- Part 2: Using the teacher’s version of the Pirates text available in this Teacher’s Guide (page 11) you should then read the complete passage aloud, including the words in the gaps, as the pupils follow on their page. Pupils do not write anything at this point.
- You must then read the complete passage aloud again, pausing after each space to allow pupils to write in the missing word.
- Pupils should attempt all the words, making their writing as clear as possible.

In your own words, explain the nature and purpose of the test, making it clear that the pupils should each decide the spelling of the missing words alone and without copying. The pupils should be encouraged to make their best attempts at spelling, even for words with which they are unfamiliar. Use the instructions below, adapting them and/or repeating them as you judge necessary, so that all pupils understand what is expected of them.

1. Hold up your copy of the spelling sheet and show the pupils the two different sections it contains. Discuss with the pupils the large picture and the smaller pictures around it. Make sure each pupil knows what the pictures represent. The target words for the picture items are:

practice word map	1. rope	2. patch	3. shark	4. coins
	5. sail	6. wheel	7. ladder	8. cloud

Tell the pupils to write the words in the correct places as you dictate the words to them. When all the pupils have finished, tell them to put their pencils down and listen.

2. When everyone is ready, read out the following, changing the wording if necessary.

I am going to read out some information about Pirates.

On the back page of your sheet you will find a copy of the information, but your version has words missing from it.

Follow the text on your sheet as I read through the passage for the first time, but don't write anything at this stage.

I will then read out the passage again, giving you time to write the missing words in the spaces.

3. Read aloud the text (reproduced on page 11) for the first time, including all the missing words. Before re-reading it, tell the pupils:

I will now read the text to you again.

When you come to a space, wait for me to tell you the word and then write it on the line.

If you're not sure how to spell it, just have a go and put the letters you think are right.

When you write the words, try to make your writing as clear as possible.

4. Read out the passage again, allowing time for the pupils to write the missing words on their sheets. If necessary, repeat the missing word so that all pupils understand what the target word is.

Pirates		Part 2

Special arrangements

General advice

These materials are suitable for any pupil who is operating at levels 2–4 in English. The majority of pupils will be able to take the tests as a whole-class exercise, but there may be one or two pupils, or a small group, who might need more sensitive arrangements. For some individuals, for example those that suffer from attention related difficulties, breaking the testing into shorter sessions may be beneficial. For others, working separately away from the main group with an assistant would aid concentration and more closely resemble their normal working conditions. Whatever special arrangements are made, they should make it possible for the pupil to work to the best of their ability but should not provide an unfair advantage. At the back of this guide, photocopiable sheets are provided to give guidance to any additional adults in the classroom who are available to assist in the administration of these tests. You should note the nature and extent of the support outlined on those pages, as the help described there may be made available to all pupils, not only those with special needs. However, any adult who is to administer any parts of the tests independently to a group of pupils will need to follow the administration instructions found in this Teacher's guide.

It is advisable to have read the test materials thoroughly beforehand so that you can deal with questions readily. However, it should be noted that teachers must help pupils only with questions of test procedure and not with the content, for example by explaining word meanings.

Pupils should work individually and independently, producing their own ideas. They should not be totally unsupported, but you should avoid giving direct or indirect help.

Additional time

In considering whether to allow pupils to have extra time, teachers are referred to the guidance contained in QCA's Assessment and Reporting Arrangements booklet for Key Stage 2 (www.qca.org.uk/12305_9976.html).

It is the responsibility of the school to ensure that pupils who are given extra time meet the criteria specified for extra time at the end of key stage 2 tests. If extra time is used inappropriately, then the scores derived from the test will be unreliable.

English as an additional language

If you have pupils in your class who speak a language other than English at home, and whose English is not developed fully, you will need to plan carefully to ensure that the pupils are given the best possible opportunity to show what they can do. You are free to use gestures or drawings to help you, or to rephrase instructions in several different ways. You should use your knowledge of individual pupils to check that they have understood. As part of the introduction to the reading test, you are also free to discuss any concepts covered in the reading materials which may be culturally unfamiliar to your pupils. However, the English curriculum must be assessed in English and you should not define specific vocabulary used. Your pupils' achievements in speaking, reading and writing their first languages are not directly relevant to these English assessments.

Special educational needs

As is the case with all pupils working at levels 2–4, those with special educational needs should be reassured and encouraged to complete what they can of the test, leaving what they cannot do.

Pupils with physical or sensory impairment may use whatever technological aids they normally use. Pupils with a language disorder or hearing impairment may use their usual methods of communication. Responses to the reading test can be oral if necessary or an amanuensis may be used. In these cases a separate individual test session will need to be arranged. Responses for the writing tests must be in written format; they cannot be oral. Again, responses can be dictated by the pupil to an amanuensis, but all punctuation and features to do with presentation and layout will need to be explicitly specified by the pupil.

Modified versions of the test

The Optional English tests are also available in braille and modified large print. These can be ordered from QCA's agency for the distribution of optional modified tests. Full details can be found on NAA's test orders website. All orders must be placed as soon as possible, to ensure delivery of the tests by end of April. Ideally, orders will be placed before the end of January in the year the pupil will be taking the test.

Marking the reading test

The range of marks available for each question is given under the mark box in the margin of the Reading Answer Booklet.

Incorrect or unacceptable answers are given a mark of 0. No half marks are awarded.

There are several different answer formats:

- short answers
These may be a word or phrase only, and 1 mark may be awarded for each correct response.
- longer answers
These may be phrases or a sentence or two, and up to 2 marks may be awarded.
- other answers
Some responses do not involve writing and the requirements are explained in the question.

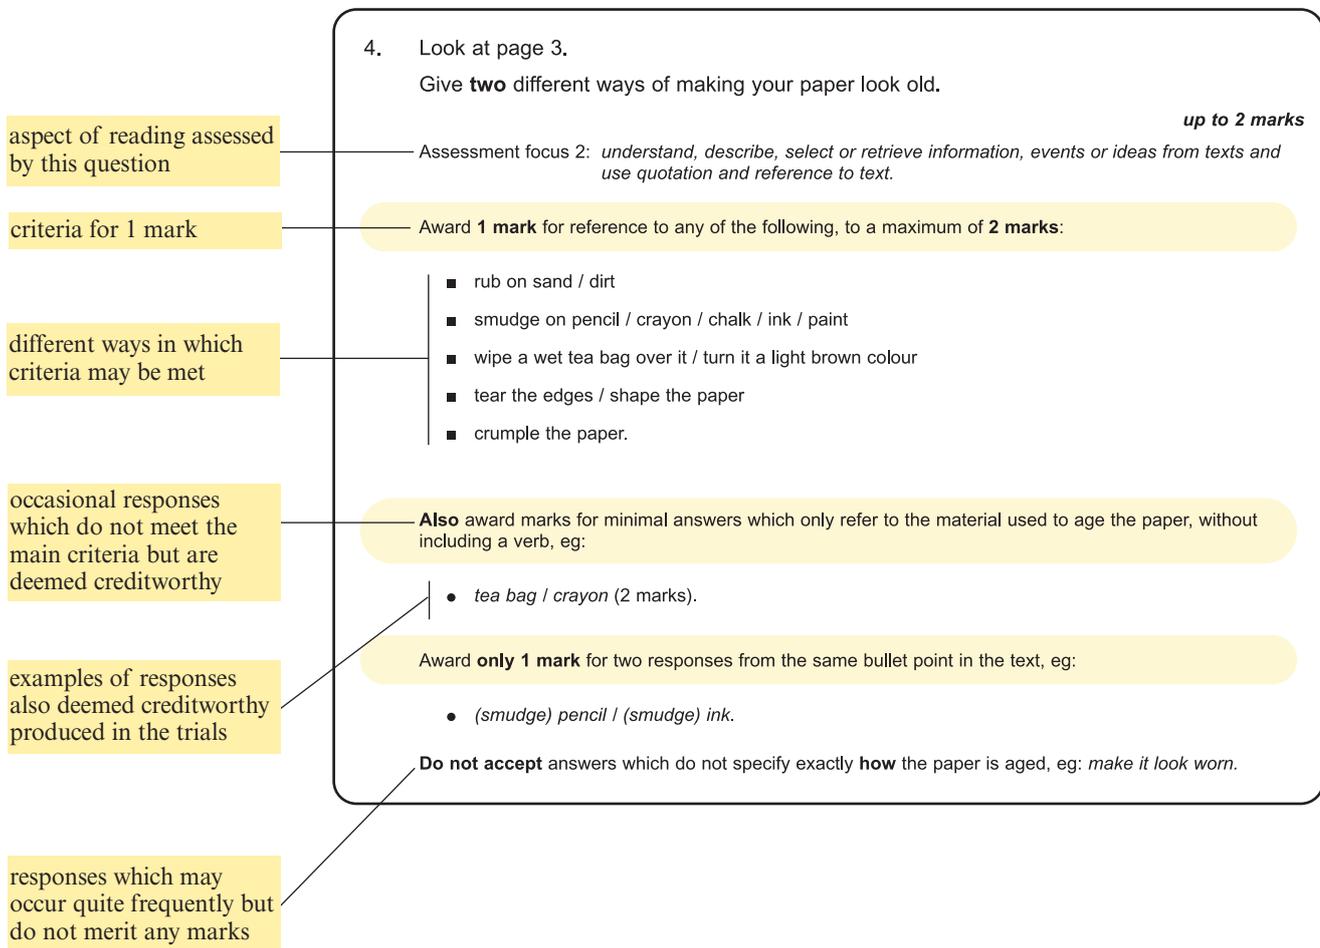

The mark scheme was devised after trialling the tests with pupils and contains examples of some frequently occurring correct answers given in the trials. These are shown in italics. Many pupils will, however, have different ways of wording an acceptable answer. In assessing each answer, you should focus on the content of what has been written and not on the quality of the writing, expression, grammatical construction, etc.

Assessment focuses for reading

The aspects of reading to be assessed are pupils' ability to:

1. use a range of strategies, including accurate decoding of text, to read for meaning
2. understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text
3. deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts
4. identify and comment on the structure and organisation of texts, including grammatical and presentational features at text level
5. explain and comment on writers' use of language, including grammatical and literary features at word and sentence level
6. identify and comment on writers' purposes and viewpoints, and the overall effect of the text on the reader
7. relate texts to their social, cultural and historical contexts and literary traditions.

How the reading mark scheme is set out

The following table identifies the questions (with marks available) that address each assessment focus (AF).

Assessment focus 1 underlies the reading of and response to the text and questions in the test, and is not explicitly separately assessed in this test. Not all focuses will be appropriate to, or appear in, any one test at any given level.

Section 1: Making a Treasure Map

Marking the reading test

1. Look at page 2. What do you need to use to make a treasure map?

Write two different things.

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for any two of the following:

- paper (plain/squared)
- pencil
- coloured pencils
- felt tips
- tea bag
- sand
- dirt
- rubber
- ruler.

2. Why is squared paper useful for making a treasure map?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for reference to writing or giving directions, eg:

- you can use the squares to give directions
- when you write directions / for directions
- makes it easier to write directions / helps you give directions
- it helps you write instructions.

Do not accept answers which do not refer to giving directions, eg:

- you can use the squares / to measure how many squares
- it's easier to set out/draw
- it helps you follow the map / it's easier to read/understand.

3. Find and copy the words that mean 'Helpful Hint'.

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for:

- Useful Tip.

4. Look at page 3.

Give two different ways of making your paper look old.

up to 2 marks

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for reference to any of the following, to a maximum of 2 marks:

- rub on sand / dirt
- smudge on pencil / crayon / chalk / ink / paint
- wipe a wet tea bag over it / turn it a light brown colour
- tear the edges / shape the paper
- crumple the paper.

Also award marks for minimal answers which only refer to the material used to age the paper, without including a verb, eg:

- tea bag / crayon (2 marks).

Award only 1 mark for two responses from the same bullet point in the text, eg:

- (smudge) pencil / (smudge) ink.

Do not accept answers which do not specify exactly how the paper is aged, eg: make it look worn.

5. Why is it a good idea to make your paper look old before you begin to draw your map?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for references to not spoiling the map, or to the consequences of not ageing the paper first, eg:

- so you don't spoil your work
- because you might ruin it / the map
- if you age it afterwards you might go wrong
- because it will hide the drawing / your map might not show up.

Do not accept answers which make simple references to making the map look old without mention of the consequences of not ageing the paper first, eg:

- so you make the paper look old first
- it will look like a real treasure map
- you might make a mess.

6. Look at page 4.

Why should you put details such as trees or houses on your map?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

- | | |

7. Look at the Useful Tip on page 4.

How can you make sure the treasure hunt gets off to a good start?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for references to the starting point, eg:

- give a starting point / show the start
- make the starting point easy to find
- they need to know where to start the hunt.

Do not accept references to the ease / difficulty of the map or treasure hunt, eg: make sure the map is easy or answers taken from other parts of the text, eg: draw places on your map / show places to look.

8. Look at page 5. What do you need to do when you write directions?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

tear the edges of the paper

think about the places and objects on your map

make the paper look old

decide what your treasure will be 9.

Start at the garage where the rabbit be,
Then go to the shed and then to the tree,
Go halfway down the hedge and past the trampoline.
Look at the flowers by the tree - the treasure will be seen!!

Look at this text from page 5. Why has the text been presented like this?

1 mark

Assessment focus 4: identify and comment on the structure and organisation of texts, including grammatical and presentational features at text level.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

to show it is another step in the instructions

to give you another Useful Tip

to show it is an example of directions

to tell you how to make the map

10. Look at page 6. Why should you try out your directions?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for references to any of the following:

- making sure the directions work
- checking the directions
- making sure nothing is missing
- making sure the hunters are led the right way.

For example:

- to make sure they are right
- to check it is not too easy / hard
- to see if there are any mistakes / in case you got something wrong
- you might have forgotten something / missed something out
- so the hunter doesn't get mixed up / if you don't, the hunter won't get to the treasure.

up to 2 marks

Assessment focus 4: identify and comment on the structure and organisation of texts, including grammatical and presentational features at text level.

Award 2 marks for all four labels correctly placed, and 1 mark for two or three labels correctly placed.

The image shows a page from a reading booklet titled "Making a Treasure Map". The page is divided into several sections. At the top, there is a title "Making a Treasure Map". Below the title is an introduction: "In this booklet you will read some instructions to show you how to make a treasure map, and some information about different kinds of clues. In the next booklet you will read a story about a treasure hunt." Below the introduction is a subheading "What you need" followed by a list of items: "paper (squared or plain)", "pencil", "coloured pencils or felt tips", "tea bag, sand or dirt", "ruler", and "eraser". To the right of this list is an image of a map and a ruler. Below the list is a "Useful Tip" section: "Squared paper is great because you can use the squares to help you give directions." Arrows point from labels to these sections: "title" points to the title, "introduction" points to the introductory text, "subheading" points to "What you need", and "bullet point" points to the first item in the list.

13. How do the photographs in the reading booklet help you?

1 mark

Assessment focus 4: identify and comment on the structure and organisation of texts, including grammatical and presentational features at text level.

Award 1 mark for references to how the content of the photographs might be helpful for making the map, eg:

- they show you what you need
- they show you how to age the paper
- they show you what to do / how to make the map
- they show you some examples / you know what it is meant to look like
- to give you ideas for your treasure map.

Also accept more general references to the fact that the photographs supplement the text, eg:

- they help explain the writing / it helps you by describing the writing
- if you don't understand the writing, the pictures will show you what to do.

Do not accept vague responses or those which don't indicate how the photographs are helpful, eg: if you don't understand it, it will help you / it gives you clues.

14. Look at page 7. How can you make a treasure hunt more interesting for the treasure-hunters?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for reference to using clues, or to specific types of clue, eg:

- use clues
- make a trail / tie ribbons to trees / put arrows
- use word clues / picture clues / riddles and rhymes.

Also accept answers which make reference to other sections of text and indicate sensible ways in which a treasure hunt could be made more interesting, eg:

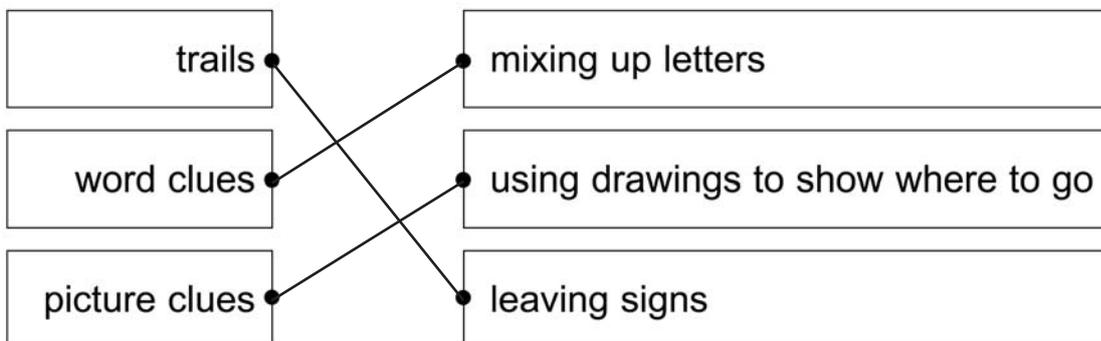

- draw more things on the map / put more detail in
- make it more difficult / harder to solve
- make it longer / if the clues take longer to find.

15. Match each clue to its description.

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for all three correctly matched.

Section 2: The Hunt for the Secret Treasure

16. Look at page 3.
What was Jackson's treasure?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for three ticks correctly placed.

Tick three

money	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	flower	<input type="checkbox"/>
map	<input type="checkbox"/>	watch	<input type="checkbox"/>
sticker	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	balloon	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

17. Where did Jackson hide the treasure?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for reference to any of the following:

- in a pot of pansies / in some flowers
- on the front porch
- in a (metal) box.

Do not accept non-specific answers, eg: in the garden / near his house.

18. Why was Jackson proud of his map?

Give two reasons.

up to 2 marks

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for reference to any of the following, to a maximum of 2 marks:

- it was tricky / difficult, eg: it was hard
- it would lead Goat all over, eg: he thought Goat would never find it
- it looked like a real pirate map, eg: he made it look like a proper treasure map
- it was drawn on brown paper, eg: it looked old
- he had ripped / torn the edges.

Also award 1 mark for answers which make reference to other parts of the text and refer to the length of time Jackson had spent on the map, eg:

- he worked really hard on it
- he had spent all morning on it.

Do not accept answers implying that the map would help Goat, or very general answers related to either the map or Jackson's feelings towards it or answers that are not text based, eg:

- it showed him where to go
- it was helpful
- he did it himself / with no help
- he liked it / because he had done well.

19. Look at page 4. When Goat gave Jackson a piece of paper, why was Jackson disappointed?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for reference to any of the following:

- Goat not making a map / Jackson wanting a map
- Goat using a little scrap of paper
- the size of the writing
- the lack of time he spent compared to Jackson.

For example:

- Goat was supposed to make a map / it wasn't a map
- Goat had written clues (instead of a map)
- it was a dirty scrap of paper
- the writing was so small / he couldn't read it
- he hadn't made an effort / spent much time / Jackson spent a long time on his map.

Do not accept answers which refer to Jackson's disappointment due to other / later events in the story, or vague answers, eg:

- Goat saw the petal / found the treasure
- Goat didn't use his map
- because they were so hard / he didn't understand them
- he didn't know what it was
- because Goat did it wrong.

20. Goat was already running down the pavement.

Why did Goat run off so soon after Jackson gave him the map?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for references to Goat already knowing where the treasure was hidden or Goat having seen the pansy petal, eg:

- he knew where it / the treasure was
- he was going straight to the treasure / to the flower pot
- he wanted to find / get the treasure
- he was going to Jackson's house to look for the treasure
- there was a petal on Jackson's watch
- Jackson had given it away / Goat had seen a clue.

Do not accept references to Goat having already found the treasure, eg: he had found the treasure.

21. Look at page 5. Jackson said, "I spent all morning on that map!"
What do these words tell you about how Jackson was feeling?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for appropriate references to Jackson's feelings or attitude, eg;

- he was annoyed / angry / cross
- he was upset / disappointed.

Do not accept answers which refer to the reasons for Jackson's feelings, without specifying an appropriate emotion, eg: he had taken it seriously / worked very hard / he had wasted his time or reference to incorrect emotions, eg: he was tired / proud.

22. What clue did Goat see that told him where the treasure was hidden?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

an old pot

Jackson's map

a petal

Jackson's watch

23. Look at page 6.

Goat said, "Too tricky, huh, Jackson?"
Why did Goat say this?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

He was shouting at Jackson.

He was teasing Jackson.

He was trying to trick Jackson.

He was being kind to Jackson.

24. Look at page 6. When Jackson looked at Goat's clues, he pretended it was for the first time. Why did he do this?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

The clues were easy.

He was bored with the game.

He had already worked out the clues.

He hadn't worked out the clues yet.

25. How did Goat know where the sticker came from?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for references to Goat eating / having the same kind of cereal, eg:

- he eats / likes the same kind of cereal
- he has the same breakfast / he's eaten the cereal before
- he found one in his cereal box.

Do not accept simple references to where the sticker came from, eg: (because it came from) a cereal box.

26. Look at page 7. Jackson thought: Now he had ruined it.
Why did Jackson think Goat had ruined the treasure hunt?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for appropriate references to Goat's behaviour / actions up to this point in the story that have upset Jackson:

- Goat didn't make a map / made clues
- Goat found the treasure (before Jackson), eg: he found it so quickly / he knew where the treasure was
- Goat didn't need to use his map
- he found the answer because of the petal
- Goat wrote difficult clues / Jackson couldn't work out Goat's clues, eg: Goat made it too hard
- Goat was teasing him
- Goat hadn't been fair / didn't follow the rules, eg: Goat cheated.

Do not accept general references to Jackson's feelings with no reference to Goat, eg:

- it wasn't fun any more / he wanted to quit
- he said he was bored of the game / he didn't really like it
- all week he had been looking forward to it
- he wanted to find the treasure.

27. What does the word stamped tell you about the way Jackson was feeling?

1 mark

Assessment focus 5: explain and comment on writers' use of language, including grammatical and literary features at word and sentence level.

Award 1 mark for responses which identify an appropriate feeling, eg:

- he was fed up / annoyed / upset
- he was angry / cross / in a mood / mad
- he felt cheated.

Do not accept references to general negative emotions, eg: he was sad / unhappy, or inappropriate emotions, eg: he was bored, or reference to the reasons for Jackson's feelings, rather than specifying a feeling, eg: he had not found the treasure / he couldn't do the clues.

28. Look at page 8. Jackson thought: I felt better.
Why did Jackson feel better now?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for references to the fact that Jackson understands Goat's clues now, or knows where the treasure is hidden, or the fact that Goat has given himself away or helped Jackson in some way to decipher the clues / find the treasure, eg:

- he knew what the clues / instructions meant
- he gets the clues now / he had worked the clues out / he had solved it
- he knew where to look / he knew it meant trees
- he knew where to find the treasure / it was his turn to find the treasure
- Goat had given away his clues too
- because he had got a clue / he finds a clue
- Goat was helping him / Goat helped him find the treasure / Goat gave him an idea.

Do not accept references to later in the story, ie Jackson already having found the treasure, eg: because he found / liked the treasure or responses which do not show an understanding of the significance of Goat's actions, eg: Goat stuck his hands in his pockets.

29. Look at page 9. Why was Goat following Jackson slowly?

1 mark

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for the correctly ticked box.

Tick one

Jackson had opened the bag.

Jackson had nearly found the treasure.

Goat was very pleased.

Jackson wanted to quit.

30. Where did Goat hide his treasure?

1 mark

Assessment focus 2: understand, describe, select or retrieve information, events or ideas from texts and use quotation and reference to text.

Award 1 mark for reference to any of the following:

- in a (paper) bag
- in a tree
- hanging from a branch.

Page 14

31. Put these events in the order that they happen in the story.

The first one has been done for you.

1 mark

Assessment focus 4: identify and comment on the structure and organisation of texts, including grammatical and presentational features at text level.

Award 1 mark for all three steps correctly numbered.

Goat sees the pansy petal.

Jackson and Goat hide the treasure.

Jackson finds the paper bag.

Goat finds the metal box.

32. Do you think Jackson enjoyed the treasure hunt?

Tick one.

yes no yes and no

Explain your answer.

up to 2 marks

Assessment focus 3: deduce, infer or interpret information, events or ideas from texts.

Award 1 mark for each appropriate explanation which makes reference to events in the story, to a maximum of 2 marks.

Yes:

- he enjoyed making the map
- he was proud of his map / liked his map
- he found the treasure (in the end)
- because Goat gave himself away
- they both found something.

Do not accept answers which do not refer to specific story events, eg: it was good / fun / he was happy / Goat was his best friend.

No:

- he argued with Goat
- Goat teased him / was not very nice to him
- Goat found the treasure before him / more quickly
- Goat's clues were hard / he didn't understand the clues
- Goat didn't use his map / (he thought) Goat cheated
- Goat made clues instead of a map
- he couldn't find Goat's treasure / it took him a long time
- Goat ruined it.

Do not accept answers which do not refer to specific story events, eg: he was annoyed / upset.

For example:

- [No] because Goat did not need the map and didn't draw a real map and gave clues (2 marks)
- [Yes and no] he argued with Goat but in the end he found the treasure (2 marks)
- [Yes and no] he gave it away, but so did Goat (2 marks)
- [Yes and no] he was disappointed when Goat didn't use the map and happy at the end because he found the treasure (2 marks)
- [Yes and no] he didn't get the treasure first but it was fun (1 mark)
- [Yes] he enjoyed finding the treasure (1 mark).

Also award 1 mark for responses which refer to Jackson's emotions at a particular point in the story, but which do not offer an explanation, eg:

- [Yes and no] because he was happy at the end but angry in the middle
- [Yes and no] at the beginning he felt happy but near the end he did not enjoy it and in the end he was happy
- [Yes and no] he was happy then bored then happy
- [No] he was a bit moody at the end.

Marking the writing test

There are two mark schemes, one for the longer task Treasure hunt fun (pages 39–41) and the other for the shorter task Playtime games (pages 50–51).

Assessment focuses for writing

The aspects of writing to be assessed are pupils’ ability to:

1. write imaginative, interesting and thoughtful texts
2. produce texts which are appropriate to task, reader and purpose
3. organise and present whole texts effectively, sequencing and structuring information, ideas and events
4. construct paragraphs and use cohesion within and between paragraphs
5. vary sentences for clarity, purpose and effect
6. write with technical accuracy of syntax and punctuation in phrases, clauses and sentences
7. select appropriate and effective vocabulary (this is not assessed separately, but contributes to text structure and organisation and composition and effect)
8. use correct spelling (assessed through the spelling test).

The mark scheme strands

For the purpose of marking the writing, related assessment focuses have been drawn together into three strands:

- sentence structure
- punctuation
- composition and effect.

For the longer task, the strands are organised as follows.

	Assessment focuses
■ sentence structure	– vary sentences for clarity, purpose and effect.
■ punctuation	– write with technical accuracy of syntax and punctuation in phrases, clauses and sentences.
■ composition and effect	– write imaginative, interesting and thoughtful texts – produce texts which are appropriate to task, reader and purpose – organise and present whole texts effectively.

For the shorter task, the strands are organised as follows.

Assessment focuses
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ sentence structure and punctuation 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – vary sentences for clarity, purpose and effect – write with technical accuracy of syntax and punctuation in phrases, clauses and sentences.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ composition and effect 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> – write imaginative, interesting and thoughtful texts – produce texts which are appropriate to task, reader and purpose – organise and present whole texts effectively.

Handwriting is assessed across both tasks. The marking criteria are shown in section F on pages 58–60.

The criteria encourage positive recognition of achievement in writing. Pupils do not necessarily develop uniformly across these categories, and the strands allow separate judgements to be made about the relative strengths and weaknesses of a pupil's work.

Marking procedures

The criteria for each strand identify typical characteristics of pupil's work in different bands. When marking, it is helpful first to identify which bands are most relevant to the writing and then refine the judgement to a mark within a band. The annotations on the example scripts show how to look for features in the writing, and the summary boxes show how to weigh these features to reach a mark.

Where the writing clearly does not meet the criteria for Band 1, a mark of 0 should be awarded.

Pupils are expected to follow the prompt very carefully, especially in content and form. Pupils whose writing is unrelated to the prompt should not be credited with any marks for composition and effect. Those pupils who do not maintain the form throughout the piece, for example a non-fiction piece becoming narrative, do not have access to the full range of marks for composition and effect.

Marking the writing

A set of annotated scripts, written by year 3 pupils during the pre-tests, is presented here to help your judgements of the writing. Scripts are reproduced without corrections to spelling.

The longer task: Treasure hunt fun

The task is to write a letter to the headteacher, describing and explaining plans for a school treasure hunt. The prompt is presented as a notice from the headteacher, asking pupils for ideas and explaining that the best ideas will be chosen for the hunt. The importance of explaining why ideas are appealing, and justifying their selection, is emphasised through repetition in the prompt and on the planning sheet. The planning sheet also directs pupils' thinking towards the kinds of clues they might use and the ways in which they could make their treasure hunt interesting and exciting.

The answer booklet (the photocopiable writing template) provides some support: the greeting 'Dear Headteacher' and introductory sentence 'Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt' are intended to cue pupils to the type and format of writing required. However, pupils should not be penalised if the letter does not have a conventional ending.

Better performances are distinguished by some variety of ideas and development of plans for the hunt, with reasons for choices. In addition, writing has a logical structure, with clear connections between ideas. Viewpoint is clear and writing shows an awareness of purpose; words and phrases are selected to make ideas sound appealing and a persuasive tone may be used.

Treasure hunt fun

Your school is having a treasure hunt. The headteacher has asked the children in your class for help and has put up this notice:

Treasure hunt fun

Dear Class

The school is going to have a treasure hunt. I would like some ideas. Can you help?

I will choose the best ideas and use them for the school treasure hunt.

Headteacher

Write about your ideas for the school treasure hunt. Explain the reasons why your ideas should be chosen.

Mark scheme for the longer task: Treasure hunt fun

SECTION A
SENTENCE STRUCTURE
Assessment focus: vary sentences for clarity, purpose and effect
Band A1	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Words and phrases are used to communicate meaning and some ideas about the topic are expressed in sentence-like structures. 1 mark
Band A2	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The construction of clauses is usually grammatically accurate, predominantly starting with subject and verb (We can; I am; It is). Writing is often speech-like in structure. Clauses are sometimes joined with and, but, then, with some use of simple sentences. Repeated use of subordinating connective because may occur. Occasional use of simple adjectives (fun day; hard map) and/or adverbials (then we can have). 2–3 marks
Band A3	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Simple connectives and, but, then, when link clauses (but for the older kids). Some variation in subordination (because, so) but may be repetitive. Subjects and verbs may be repeated (there will be; there is). Nouns are sometimes modified by adjectives (huge map; lovely party food; little clues) and adverbs are used for emphasis (really). Some use of modal verbs (there could be; we could). Some sentences expanded by simple adverbials (later; in the playground). 4–5 marks
Band A4	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Sentences are mostly grammatically sound. Expanded noun phrases and adverbials (at the end; after that) vary construction of sentences. Subordinating connectives are used in a variety of ways to develop explanation within sentences (if it's not raining; which will hopefully make them come). There is some variation in subjects of sentences (the treasure hunt; you; some people; everybody). Tenses are generally consistent or appropriate; modal verbs to express possibility are varied, eg could, would, will. 6 marks

SECTION B

PUNCTUATION

Assessment focus: write with technical accuracy of syntax and punctuation in phrases, clauses and sentences

Band B1

- Some awareness is shown, in writing or discussion, of how full stops are used.

1 mark

Band B2

- Sentences are sometimes demarcated by capital letters and full stops. Other punctuation may mark questions and exclamations.

2–3 marks

Band B3

- Full stops, capital letters, exclamation marks and question marks are used to demarcate sentences, mostly accurately; commas are used in lists.

4–5 marks

Band B4

- Accurate sentence demarcation and some correct use of commas within sentences to mark phrases or clauses.

6 marks

SECTION C COMPOSITION AND EFFECTAssessment focuses: write imaginative, interesting and thoughtful texts*produce texts which are appropriate to task, reader and purpose*organise and present whole texts effectively, sequencing and structuring information, ideas and events*Band C1

- Meaning is communicated through simple words and phrases. Ideas may be listed, with little expansion.
- Word choices establish the topic content (treasure).

1 markBand C2

- Meaning is communicated in a simple structure, with some connection between ideas. The selection of material relates to the topic and some ideas are relevant. Text may comprise list of clues.
- Simple description of ideas may dominate writing (the treasure could be gold). Details are sometimes included to interest the reader (free crisps and drink) but are not developed and rarely linked to other ideas.

2–4 marksBand C3

- Ideas about the treasure hunt provide necessary information and are simply structured. Information may closely follow prompt and/or planning. Ideas are relevant and sometimes grouped to develop content (to trick people; paces and side-steps). Where the emphasis is on clues, some explanatory text is provided.
- The writing shows evidence of a viewpoint: feelings / attitudes are expressed and some justification or explanation of some ideas is given (It's a good idea so we can make money).
- Some elaboration and detail is included for interest and to support ideas (there will be prizes if you find the treasure; you could have a treat).

5–7 marksBand C4

- Plans for the treasure hunt are logically structured. A variety of ideas are suggested, with some developments and reasons for choices. Clues may be integrated into the text to provide illustration or examples. There is some individuality and imagination shown in ideas and suggestions. Introduction of new ideas may be signposted (Some other ideas to make it enjoyable; You could also; that is my first idea this is my other one; Now for my grand finale).
- Viewpoint is established and maintained and the merits of most ideas are explained (because pupils can work together as a team; pupils from other schools can come and enjoy it; so that no one gets mixed up).
- Stylistic choices maintain interest and exemplify advantages of ideas (spectacular ideas; so that little pupils could reach the treasure as well). Some words and phrases carefully selected for precision (a small map booth; the ultimate treasure; mini toy pirate ship) and to make ideas sound appealing (so that we could decorate the whole room).

8–10 marks

SENTENCE STRUCTURE

PUNCTUATION

Dear Headteacher
Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt.

clauses begin with subject and verb (A2)

simple adverbials establish position / place (above A2)

some lack of control (A2)

I am going to hid my treasure in a radit hol on the hill (in the midul) I have put lost of swets in the treasure box we twescise and chooclusts and a litter can of cold a coler and my map was very hard to fid my treasure box) Because it was (rit in the hol).

sentences sometimes demarcated correctly (B2)

Marking the writing test

SENTENCE STRUCTURE
Summary
Writing consists of some accurate clauses joined using and , combined with some more clumsy sentence structures towards the end of the writing. Tense is inconsistent. Some attempt has been made to introduce variety through use of adverbials and adjectives.
Band A2 – 2 marks

COMPOSITION & EFFECT
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ideas for the treasure hunt are relevant, but restricted to two single (although related) elements: where to hide the treasure and what the treasure is (C2). Lack of expansion; writing tends to be simple description of ideas, although some minimal detail is added (in a radit hol; lost of swets) (C2).
Summary
Writing relates to the theme of a treasure hunt; however, content is minimal and ideas are not linked. Writing is presented as a list of ideas, with no development or justification.
Band C2 – 2 marks

PUNCTUATION
Summary
Punctuation is inconsistent; two sentences are demarcated appropriately, but elsewhere capitalisation is incorrect.
Band B2 – 2 marks

SENTENCE STRUCTURE

PUNCTUATION

Dear Headteacher
Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt.

repetitive use of verbs (A2)

use of adverbials to specify location (above A2)

some speech-like patterns (A2)

simple adjectives add detail to writing (A2)

I think there (shoud be) lots of Clues the clues
 (shoud be hidden) around the school.
 It (soud be hidden) out side not in dors. The persion who fings it (gets to ceap it) the treaser shoud be (metale) coins in a (card bord) box.
 The clus will tell you where to go. And there will be a map.

most sentences demarcated by full stops, but capitalisation insecure (B2)

Marking the writing test

SENTENCE STRUCTURE
Summary
Sentences are simple and quite short, but largely controlled. Sentences begin with subject plus verb (I think; the treaser shoud). Some simple adverbials and adjectives vary sentence structure. More linking of clauses is needed to achieve the next band.
Band A2 – 3 marks

COMPOSITION & EFFECT
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Content is relevant to the topic and there is some connection between ideas in the first section, but the second section of writing lacks logical structure; ‘the treasure’ is not specified until the final sentence (C2). Writing is dominated by simple description (there will be a map), with a lack of persuasion and only simple development of ideas (The persion who fings it gets to ceap it). Justification is not provided for most ideas (C2).
Summary
Ideas are relevant and some attempt is made to develop certain elements. The structure of the writing is a weakness; clues are referred to at the beginning of the piece, then again towards the end. A new idea (the map) is introduced at the end of the writing, with no expansion or detail to support it.
Band C2 – 3 marks

PUNCTUATION
Summary
Writing consists of some accurately punctuated sentences combined with some omitted capital letters and full stops.
Band B2 – 3 marks

SENTENCE STRUCTURE

PUNCTUATION

Dear Headteacher
Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt.

some awkwardness of expression (A2)

simple adverbials provide some variety and add to content (above A2)

adverb used to develop content further (above A2)

repetitive sentence openings (A2)

I think we should have clue points to help you and tell you where the next one is a bit in the Treasure Hunt. You could also have riddles and a clue what the prize is. I think it would be great with teams. And you could trick people with trick clues. It should be all over the school grounds. You could make the map look old. You could also make some arrows on the ground to help them. You could give them a time amount to find the treasure. You could let them in places there not usually aloud to go. Put the treasure a bit underground with a X over it. You could do it with the whole school and have one adult to help each group.

most sentences appropriately demarcated with capital letters and full stops (B3)

Marking the writing test

SENTENCE STRUCTURE
Summary
Writing is mainly grammatically accurate, but lacks coherence at times, primarily because of pronoun confusion. Although adverbials add some diversity of expression, there is a lack of variety; several sentences follow the same structure.
Band A2 – 3 marks

COMPOSITION & EFFECT
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ideas are relevant but writing is presented as a sequence of ideas which are not closely connected; as a result it is poorly structured (below C3). Viewpoint evident through justification of ideas (it would be great with teams) (C3). Vocabulary is appropriate (clue points; riddles; trick clues) (C3).
Summary
Content of writing is relevant to the task but the piece is weakened by the poor structure; ideas are not logically grouped together. Vocabulary is precise at times and some ideas are expanded (to...tell you where the next one is), but several suggestions are presented as a list of fairly undeveloped ideas.
Band C3 – 5 marks

PUNCTUATION
Summary
Use of simple punctuation (capital letters and full stops) is generally sound. Predominantly short sentences limit opportunity to use a wider range of punctuation.
Band B3 – 4 marks

We could make cardboard monster's to pop out that would make the treasure hunt more interesting and a bit spooky. We could also have some children to dress up as pirate's. I also think we should put some clue's and tricks into the treasure hunt for example we could put arrows that show the way there could be two paths and the children won't now which path is right. We could also make a map and then rip it up and throw the peice's everywhere. I think that lot's of children will enjoy the treasure hunt because it will be fun and a bit spooky. I think you should choose my idea's because I have worked very hard thinking about my ideas I have put trick's in my treasure hunt to make it a bit interesting and funny. I have also put clue's in my treasure hunt and I have put lot's of other stuff aswell and that is why I think you should pick my ideas for the treasure hunt. Dear Headteacher

Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt.

We can hide them in some low and tall places to make them try and reach up. We could also hide the clues in some easy places so they can maybe find the clues straight away or difficult places so they can use there eyes. Also I think we could hang down some clues of a tree or a bush so they have to pull the clues down. These are some of the clues I will use, your nearly there to let them know there nearly there, turn to left and straight down the corridor by the water fountains there you will find your 3rd clue. Or some rhyming words or a poem. To let them know where the next clue is. I think they will enjoy the treasure hunt because they are looking for clues and reading them too. Also looking forward to the treasure at the end. The treasure at the for the girls are a medal and some jewelry and for the boys a medal and some sweets. All the children will start on the field then go into different directions in any place on the field then when they have found there first clue it will lead them to there second clue. I think the children should go round in groups of three or four. I think you should choose my ideas because I think there exciting and fun to play.

Dear Headteacher
Here are my ideas for the treasure hunt.

sentences are mostly grammatically accurate, with varied openings (A4)

adverbials vary sentence construction and add detail (A4)

expanded noun phrases help to develop ideas (A4)

varied subordination is used to develop explanation (A4)

varied modal verbs are used to express possibility (A4)

I think the treasure should be gold and shiny with Jewls on. The treasure should be hidden in a mixture of places like a wood or a sand pit or maby even a basket ball net. On some of them we could make them dig a bit. We could make the treasure. the treasure could be cups, bowls or plates.

To give them some clues we could put out some brightly coulerd baloons near where we put the treasure. For example if we put a plate in a tree we could tie a baloon to a branch. The mane piece of treasur could have a baloon modle and a X marks the spot. The person who find the mane peice of treasure could have two chewits (sweets). The children that find a normel peice of treasure could get one chewit. The children who don't find any peices of treasure could get a chewit anyway.

I think they will enjoy doing it my way because they will enjoy Finding the ballons. and they will enjoy ceeping the treasure to look at. The children will enjoy the digging. and hopefully the making of the treasure.

I think you should choose my Idear because it will be fun, the treasure will look nice. It will be like a little adventure and adults can Join in to. It will be a nice expirience for people who dont have any treasure hunts. I'm sure the children will love the sweets.

The shorter task: Playtime games

In this task, pupils are asked to write about a playtime game that they particularly enjoy. The prompt directs them towards providing a description of the game, and the need to explain why it is enjoyable is emphasised through repetition. Pupils are specifically directed towards writing about a playtime game rather than a game they play at home. The purpose for writing is to contribute to a book containing a compilation of popular playtime games.

Support for the content and organisation of the piece is provided on the formatted writing sheet, which is divided into five sections: Name of the game; Description of the game; Who I play the game with; Why I enjoy playing the game; Who else would enjoy playing the game and why. Sections differ in size, according to the requirements and expectations of the task.

Better performances are distinguished by a clear and concise description of the game, which provides necessary detail and is logically ordered. Reasons are given for enjoying the game, with some expansion or development, and some reference to specific elements of the game. A strong viewpoint can be identified in better examples of writing, with an awareness of who the particular game might appeal to. Specialised vocabulary may be used, and position the writer as 'expert'.

Playtime games

Your school has been asked to contribute to a book for children about the games that children play. The book will have lots of information about the kinds of games children enjoy at playtime and why they enjoy playing these games.

Think about all the games that you play at playtime. What is your favourite game? It might be a game that you play in the playground, in the classroom, or inside at wet play.

What game would you like to include?

Describe this playtime game and say why you enjoy playing it so much.

SECTION E COMPOSITION AND EFFECT

Assessment focuses: write imaginative, interesting and thoughtful texts produce texts which are appropriate to task, reader and purpose
organise and present whole texts effectively

Band E1

- Meaning is communicated through simple words and phrases. Some description of the game is provided (it is girls get boys).
- Word choice establishes the topic content (friends; play; good).

1 markBand E2

- A short series of observations about the game, simply structured, with some connection between ideas. Some description is provided (you have to get off ground; you roll the dice; we go to school in the game). Reasons for enjoyment may also be given (it's hard and it's fun; because it's a team game), although these may be repeated.
- Details are sometimes included to interest the reader (on the field; cross the red line). Listing may dominate.

2–3 marksBand E3

- Some description and evaluation are included, although coverage may be uneven. Necessary information given (it has 2 teams and you try to get the ball in the basket; you need 2 or 3 people to play; it takes a lot of time to play); reasons for enjoyment given, and sometimes developed.
- Writing shows evidence of a viewpoint, eg feelings or attitude towards specific aspects of the game are expressed (I like the part where; the best thing is; I enjoy this game because it is hard to play and takes a long time; it's tricky and you have to use your brain).
- Some vocabulary provides elaboration (angry faces; space magnets; pretend phones; ball area) and detail is included for interest (for people of all ages; I am playing my sixth game this month).

4–5 marksBand E4

- Description and information about the game is clear and concise, providing appropriate responses to the prompts. A variety of reasons are given for enjoyment, with detail and expansion. The introduction of a new idea may be signposted (another thing is).
- A viewpoint is established and maintained (It is so good that I play it every day). Some awareness may be shown of why the game might appeal to others (anyone can play it; I recommend it for kids with great imaginations).
- Stylistic choices maintain interest, eg carefully selected words and phrases (all-time favourite; extra fun) and some specialised vocabulary (compete; cup; championship; magic words; solve mysteries). Detail is included to express ideas and feelings (I don't mind being on; the funniest person is Frank).

Reasons for liking different aspects of the game are expanded or explained (it is fun to hide; when the person who is on find's you it is exciting) (E3). Vocabulary choices are mostly simple, but provide detail about participants (the person who's on; a fast runner) (E3).
Summary
Overall, the writing provides an appropriate response to the task, and there is some connection between ideas. Using the outcomes of the tests

This section provides information about interpreting the scores from the year 3 tests in English. It explains how teachers can use the test scores to find out more about pupils' attainments in the national curriculum, and about their performance in comparison with other pupils of the same age.

In order to make use of the information in this section, you should administer the tests according to the guidance given in this booklet. It is particularly important that you observe the time limits given in the test instructions, and mark questions strictly according to the mark schemes. If not, the information derived from this section cannot be used reliably.

To establish the national curriculum level attained, you must first begin with a raw score. For the reading test, you should total the marks for each pupil. For the writing test, the total score is comprised of the following elements: longer task, shorter task, handwriting and spelling. You should add the marks obtained on the longer and shorter tasks and the score for handwriting. The number of words spelled correctly on the spelling test should be converted to a mark. This mark (out of 7) should be added to the score on the two writing tasks and handwriting. It is not possible to calculate the level attained by a pupil if they do not complete all three parts of the writing test.

This will give you the raw scores for each pupil for reading and for writing.

Finding the level

Details of the reading and writing level thresholds can be found on page 63.

Information on age standardised scores as well as the age standardised scores in reading can be found on pages 64 – 66.

Reading and writing analysis sheets

Analysis sheets are provided in this Teacher's guide for the reading and the writing tests. Completion of these will provide further information about pupils' skills in reading and writing and could usefully form part of the transfer of information from one class teacher to another.

National curriculum levels

The following tables give an indication of the national curriculum levels for pupils attaining each of the score bands in the tests.

For the reading test, total the marks on both sections of the test.

For writing, add together the total scores for the longer writing task, the shorter writing task, handwriting and spelling (out of 7).

Reading test (max. mark 36)

Below level 2	0–6 marks
Level 2	7–19 marks
2C	7–10
2B	11–15
2A	16–19
Level 3	20–29 marks
3C	20–22
3B	23–26
3A	27–29
Level 4	30+ marks

Writing test (max. mark 45)

Below level 2	0–12 marks
Level 2	13–26 marks
2C	13–16
2B	17–22
2A	23–26
Level 3	27–34 marks

Level 4	35+ marks

Age standardised scores

This section explains how to work out age standardised scores for reading. They are not available for writing.

Age standardised scores take into account a pupil's age in years and months, so you have a better indication of how each pupil is performing relative to other pupils of the same age. It also means that the tests can be administered at different points in the school year including, in the case of year 3 tests, in the first half of the autumn term in year 4, and comparative information still be obtained. The standardised scores in this booklet cover the age range 7 years 5 months to 9 years 3 months. If you have decided to give the test to pupils outside this range, you will not be able to use the table. You will still, though, be able to calculate national curriculum levels.

To convert a raw score into an age standardised score:

- list the ages of all pupils in your class in years and completed months at the time of testing
- for each pupil, locate his or her age in years and months along the top of the table
- locate the pupil's raw score down the left side of the table
- read off the standardised score from where the row and column meet.

Statistically, the average standardised score is 100. A higher score is above average and a score below 100 is below average. About two-thirds of pupils will have standardised scores between 85 and 115. Almost all pupils fall within the range 70 to 130, so scores outside this range can be regarded as exceptional.

National comparisons – using the shaded bands

The tables of standardised scores are divided into five shaded bands. These bands give an indication of how the scores relate to the national population. The band nearest the top of the table contains the scores that correspond to the lowest fifth of the population; the next band, the next fifth; and so on. If a pupil has a score in the final band, you know that his or her score is in the top 20 per cent nationally, once age has been taken into account.

Very low and very high standardised scores are printed in the table as . This means that they would be below the lowest score in the table or above the highest, but cannot be calculated with the necessary degree of statistical reliability. If an exact score is needed, for example to calculate an average for the class, 69 or 141 should be used as appropriate for these pupils.

Making use of age standardised scores

If you choose to work out age standardised scores, you may use this additional information about the pupils' performance in various ways, for example:

- Age standardised scores could be averaged across a group, for example a class or year group. In the average school, year group or class, the mean score should be close to 100; if it is much above or below this, the performance of your class or school varies from the national average.
- You may include it as part of the information to parents, eg: an age standardised score of 112 shows us that the test performance was above average for his or her age. Remember that parents will not necessarily understand an age standardised score if it is quoted without any explanation.
- You may be able to identify patterns and results which indicate teaching and learning issues to be addressed, eg the difference between older / younger pupils' performance.
- Similarly, age standardised scores can be used to work out the differences between boys and girls, or pupils who have English as an additional language and those who do not, to compare the performance of these groups. In order to provide useful information, these groups need to be reasonably large; small groups will not provide reliable information.
- The progress made by an individual, a class or a school can be monitored from one year to the next. Age standardised scores can be calculated and reported for individual pupils. However, because of the nature of the scores and the fact that they are a statistical estimate (see 'Confidence bands' below), the scores are much more reliable when calculated for groups of pupils. In addition, if reported to parents, the fact that a pupil who is making typical progress from year to year will remain on a similar age standardised score will need to be explained.

Confidence bands

As the standardised scores in the table are derived only from one short test, some margin of error is inevitable, as is the case for all standardised tests. A margin of error does not mean pupils have been assessed incorrectly. It is simply a statistical estimate, based on the fact that tests can only sample the particular area of learning which they assess. To indicate how wide this margin of error is likely to be, a '90 per cent confidence band' has been calculated. This means that you can have 90 per cent certainty that the true score lies within the confidence band. In this case, the 90 per cent confidence band is plus or minus 6. So, for example, if a pupil has a standardised score of 110 in reading, you can be 90 per cent certain that the pupil's true score is between 104 and 116.

Treasure hunt fun

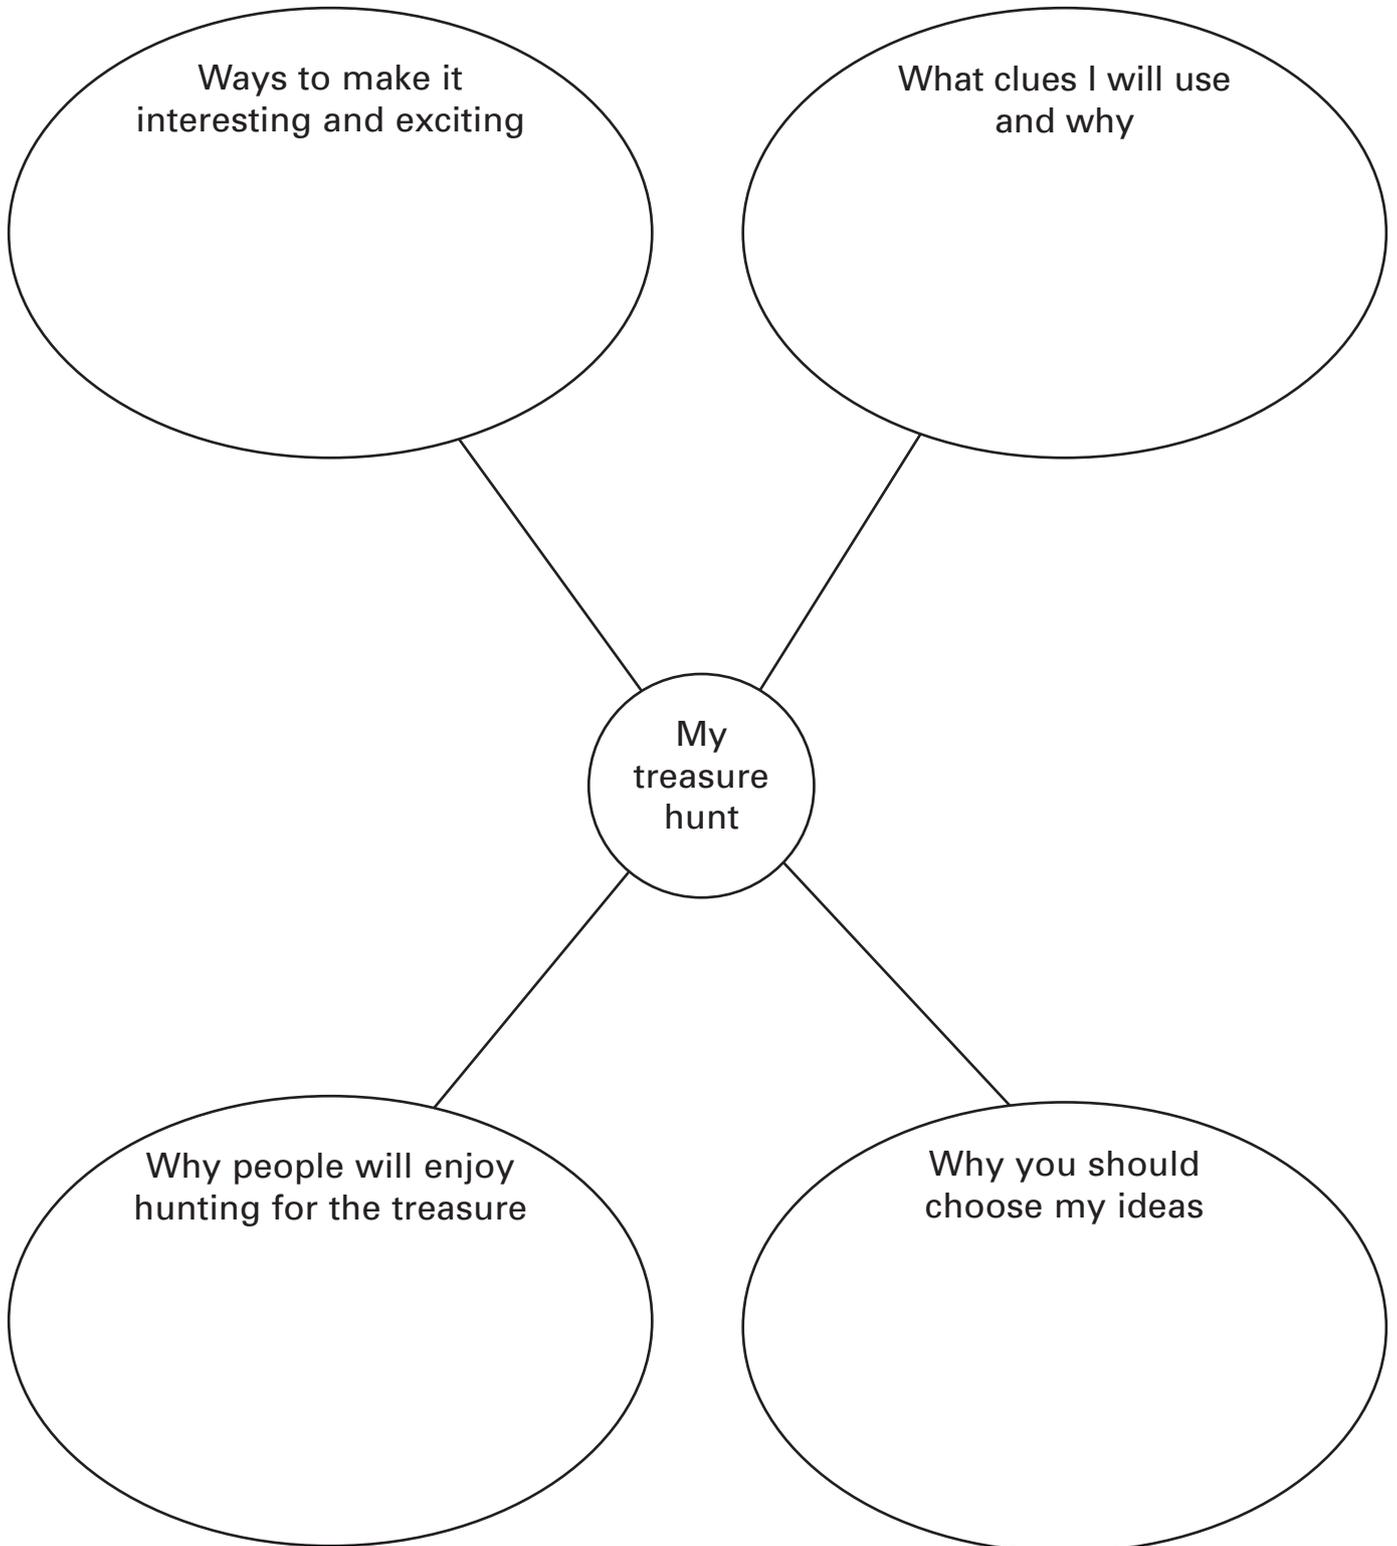

Your school is having a treasure hunt. The headteacher has asked the children in your class for help and has put up this notice:

Write about your ideas for the school treasure hunt.
Explain the reasons why your ideas should be chosen.

My ideas for the school treasure hunt

Playtime games

Your school has been asked to contribute to a book for children about the games that children play. The book will have lots of information about the kinds of games children enjoy at playtime and why they enjoy playing these games.

Think about all the games that you play at playtime. What is your favourite game? It might be a game that you play in the playground, in the classroom, or inside at wet play.

What game would you like to include?

Describe this playtime game and say why you enjoy playing it so much.

Guidance for teaching assistants

This guidance is for teaching assistants or other adults assisting in the administration of the year 3 optional tests. If a teaching assistant is to administer any parts of the tests independently to a group of pupils, they will need to follow the administration instructions found in the main part of the Teacher's guide.

Please read this guidance carefully as it gives information about the different tests, specifies what help may or may not be given to pupils taking the tests and has additional guidance for adults scribing answers for pupils. If pupils are given too much help, the test results may be invalid.

There are two assessments: reading and writing. They are based around the theme of treasure hunts and cover aspects of the programme of study in English for key stage 2 at levels 2–4. The reading assessment has two reading booklets and a Reading Answer Booklet with questions split into two sections. The writing assessment has two writing tasks and one spelling test. Pupils will do the reading assessment before the writing assessment, as the two writing tasks are related to the reading booklets.

Reading test

- Making a Treasure Map
- The Hunt for the Secret Treasure
- Reading Answer Booklet

The answer booklet is divided into two sections with questions about the first reading booklet in the first section followed by questions about the second reading booklet in the second section. After a short introduction and reading time, pupils should have 20 minutes to answer questions about Making a Treasure Map and 30 minutes to answer questions about The Hunt for the Secret Treasure. The teacher can choose whether to give pupils a break between each section.

Guidance for assisting pupils

You may:

- read the cover and introductory paragraph of page 2 of Making a Treasure Map with pupils
- help them read and answer the practice questions on pages 3 and 9 of the answer booklet
- ask pupils to read a question again to themselves, if they claim that they do not understand it
- encourage pupils not to give up at the first difficult question because there may be easier questions further on
- indicate any omitted questions when pupils have finished that they should go back and try to answer.

You should not:

- give help with reading the booklets, or any questions when pupils are working on their own
- give clues which help the pupils to work out an answer to a question
- rephrase or rewrite any part of the test
- prompt the pupils to confirm or change answers by pointing, frowning, smiling, head shaking or nodding, offering rubbers or asking leading questions.

If you are to write down or type the pupil's answers for them, you should write exactly what the pupil says. You should not indicate to the pupil that they need to expand or delete any answer or rephrase any parts of their answer.

Spelling test:

● Pirates.

The pupils listen while the teacher discusses the large picture and smaller pictures around it. The teacher will then dictate the first eight words to the pupils. When they have finished the teacher will read through the passage. The teacher then re-reads the passage pausing at the gaps in which the pupils write the missing words. The test should take about 10-15 minutes.

You may:

- read aloud any section of the passage to the pupils
- remind pupils about which word they need to fill in which space
- repeat the target words as often as necessary.

You should not:

- tell pupils how to spell words
- deliberately sound out words or emphasise spelling patterns
- prompt the pupils to confirm or change answers by pointing, frowning, smiling, head shaking or nodding or offering rubbers.

If you are to write down or type the pupil's answers for them, you should write exactly the letters the pupil says. You should not indicate to the pupil that they need to write more letters or delete letters from any word.

Writing test

The writing test asks for two pieces of writing from the pupils:

- the longer task is to write a letter to the headteacher describing and explaining plans for a treasure hunt
- the shorter task is to write about a favourite playtime game.

After a short introduction, pupils should have 40 minutes for the longer writing task and 25 minutes for the shorter task. These tasks can be done on the same day, with a break between the two sessions, or they may be done on different days.

You may:

- read any part of the prompt or planning sheet to the pupils
- in the shorter task, discuss briefly with the pupils the kinds of games they play at playtime
- encourage pupils to attempt to spell words on their own.

You should not:

- give the pupils any ideas about what to write apart from the ideas given on the prompt or planning sheet
- give the pupils any help with organising or punctuating the writing
- give the pupils any help with the spelling of words.

If you are to write down or type the pupil's writing for them, you should write exactly what the pupil says and not rephrase any parts of their writing. The pupil should be able to see what you are writing as you write. You should put in punctuation such as full stops, commas and capital letters only where the pupil indicates. The pupil does not have to spell any words used in his or her writing, as spelling is not assessed in these tasks.
